WHISKY WAREHOUSES

Burn Near Bardstown--Contained
15,000 Barrels of Bourbon.

Two large distillery warehouses, property of Tom Moore, near Bardstown, burned between 2 and 2:30 o'clock on Wednesday, containing 15,000 barrels of whisky. The Government loss is estimated at $750,000. The owner's loss is about $400,000. The office also burned. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Burning whisky ran down into Beech Fork river, a half mile distant. The distillery and one warehouse, with 5,000 barrels of whisky, were saved.

Millions of dollars worth of whisky have been destroyed and the intangible loss to the distillers and the loss on tax to the Government amounts to millions more.

The S. J. Greenbaum fire at Midway burned 48,000 barrels of whisky; the F. W. Samuels fire at Deatsville, near Louisville, 9,000 more, and the Tom Moore distillery at Bardstown, 15,000 barrels.

Two warehouses of the Tom Moore distillery and their contents of 15,000 barrels of whisky, valued at $200,000, burned at Bardstown Wednesday afternoon.

Gives $25,000 For Berea Branch.

Mrs. Russell Sage, of New York, has given $25,000 toward the establishment of a college for colored youths in Kentucky to be a branch of Berea College.

This brings the fund up to $350,000 from outside sources, leaving $50,000 to be raised in Kentucky.

The new institution was decided upon when the courts declared that Berea College could not educate both white and black students in the same school. This decision has just been sustained by the United States Supreme Court.

A LIFE

Of Crookedness Brings Its Own Punishment.

In speaking of the wealthy Chicago broker who fraudulently secured over $700,000 by selling forged deeds and mortgages, and who, in four hours' time, was arrested, confessed his guilt, was tried and sent to the penitentiary, the Courier-Journal says:

"A life of crookedness brings its own punishment, and when Van Vlissingen decided upon serving a term in prison rather than making a fight in court he had doubtless suffered to such an extent that the fruits of his criminal cleverness had been fairly well paid for.

"It does not appear that Van Vlissingen was the victim of any reverses that led him into crime with the hope of being able to recoup losses and restore stolen funds. He was merely a cold-blooded malefactor who pursued forgery as an occupation, getting about three-quarters of a million out of fraudulent transactions. According to his own statement he was not a speculator, but merely a professional crook.

"A certain measure of sympathy, however misdirected, goes out to the man in a position of trust who misappropriates funds with the intention of replacing them. But the man who deliberately fixes a glass and an electric light under his desk to commit forgery scientifically is in a class with the 'eggman,' or rather below the 'eggman,' since he does not subject himself to the risk of violent death undertaken by the cracksman who plies his trade at night and upon the premises of others. Another point in favor of the cracksman is that he does not depend for success upon his standing in the community. He is not as great a hypocrite as the 'respectable' thief. Again, the man with the nitroglycerine and the dark lantern is sometimes set upon his first illicit enterprise by the promptings of an empty stomach. The 'respectable' criminal lacks that excuse."

MIGRATION REDUCING IRELAND TO DESERT

Eminent Priest Advises His Countrymen Against Coming To America.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Everywhere I went in Ireland last summer I found tracts and pamphlets against emigration to America offered to the public in the Roman Catholic churches. In every cathedral and church, near the main entrance, is a tray of pamphlets neatly arranged in compartments with a notice to drop a penny in the box and help yourself. Most of them are religious or temperance tracts, incidents in church history, lives of the saints and martyrs; all bear the imprint of the Catholic Truth Society of Ireland.

Among this collection the most common is entitled "The Effects of Emigration," by Rev. Richard J. Kelley. It is a little booklet of thirty-two pages, containing the most extraordinary statements concerning conditions in the United States. Kelley contends truthfully that "the tide of emigration to America is reducing the strength and destroying the vigor of Ireland. It is a practical bleeding to death of the nation," and he declares that "unless it is soon arrested it will leave Ireland hopeless and pulseless. We all owe it to our dear native land to do all that we can to keep the young people at home, and while it is the duty we owe to our country, it is equally a duty we owe to the foolish youngsters who are straining in leash until they can clear away to America. We must keep them from entering the awful maelstrom of struggling, striving, stifling humanity in American cities wherein are concentrated more human misery, wretchedness and vice than can be found within the four seas of Ireland. There mortality is at its highest and morality at its lowest—body and soul are seared and scarred in the furious fight for life.

"Emigration today," continues the pamphlet, "is doing more damage, effecting more havoc and ruin in Ireland, and to Ireland, socially, industrially and politically than the previous 700 years of wars, misgovernment, oppression, confiscation and persecution. Within the last fifty years more of the best blood of the country has been lost by emigration than was spilled in all the seven centuries with its wars with England. More of the best brains of the country have expatriated themselves than were killed in Europe during the whole of the Napoleonic wars. Fields are desolate, towns depopulated and once a people leave the land they will never return to it. If the depopulation of Ireland keeps on at its present rate of from some forty to fifty thousand a year, in a few years more Ireland will find itself practically reduced to the condition of a desert. It will then be beyond salvation and beyond redemption.

"Last year the number of emigrants from Ireland was 44,869, or 2,288 more than in the previous year. Of these 39,000, or 88 per cent. went to the United States, 1,134 went to Canada, which is 149 more than the previous year."

Democratic Paper For Chicago.

Democrats are working to bring about the establishment of a cent morning Democratic newspaper in Chicago. Five Chicago men are said to have offered to stand a loss of $25,000 a year each for two years in order to give a new morning paper a chance.

CLOUDS IN MIDST OF PROSPERITY.

Gov. Refers to Troubles In His Annual Proclamation.

In his Thanksgiving proclamation Gov. Patterson, of Tennessee, said:

"In the midst of our prosperity there are clouds which darken the sky and cast their shadows athwart. Let us hope that these will presently pass away, and that the same divine hand which gathered will scatter them again and the warning has been taken and all our people learn again the lesson which some forget, that in law is our surest hope, and that only in obedience to its eternal commands can we live in social order, enduring peace and fulfill the high mission of civilized life. Let us so live that good will and gentle peace may come down from heaven to bless us all; that justice shall reign among us, that we be saved from intolerance, dissensions and suspicion and from the evils which flow therefrom to vex the State and divide the people.

"Let us pray that mercy will bring her balm of healing and bind up the wounds of bleeding hearts wherever they may be, that innocence may not suffer; that our land be washed of bloody stains; that we may have faith and hope and charity, and not forget the gentle Son of God taught that charity is the greatest of these.

Must Observe the Law.

Since the failure of the bank at Owensboro, Ben L. Bruner, Secretary of State, has been keeping a closer watch on the banks of the State and requiring them to live up to the law which permits a bank to incur indebtedness of no more than 30 per cent. of its capital stock and reserve. Letters to all the banks in the State call attention to the act which limits the amount of indebtedness. The banks have expressed willingness to abide by the rules.

Dies in Jail.

Thomas Wilson, charged in Frank Ferriner's confession with being the hangman of Capt. Quentin Rankin at Walnut Log, Reelfoot Lake Tennessee, died at Nashville, Tennessee, on Wednesday night. Congestive chills caused his death.

Wilson was one of the nine alleged night riders in jail who are seeking release by habeas corpus. He was in court Wednesday, apparently well, and was stricken at night in his cell. He died without making a statement.

HAZELRIGG & SON

A DANGEROUS COUGH.

Wife of Newark, Ohio, Man Had Symptoms of Consumption.
Was Badly Run Down and Reduced in Flesh.

RESTORED TO HEALTH BY VINOL.

"About two years ago my wife was in very poor health. She had no appetite, was much reduced in flesh, and for three months had a very bad cough with all the symptoms of consumption. Vinol was recommended and she began taking it; before the first bottle was used her appetite was better, and she was improving in health; by the time she had taken three bottles the cough was gone. She is still taking Vinol and cannot say too much in its praise."—N. L. Stebleton, Newark, Ohio.

The reason that Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it is the only preparation that contains tonic iron together with all of the healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods livers, but no oil.

Without hesitation we proclaim our faith in Vinol for chronic coughs, colds or bronchitis and as a body builder and strength creator for old people.

Anyway, if you try it and it does no good we will refund your money on demand. — Wm S. Lloyd, druggist, Mt. Sterling.

GOV. WILSON PARDONS

GREEN B. HOWARD

Who Killed Another to Protect a Girl.

In pardoning Green B. Howard, convicted in the Leslie County Court on a charge of murder and sentenced to the penitentiary, Gov. Willson laid down the principle that a man may kill another to protect a girl.

Howard was convicted of the murder of Jacob Noe, the brother of the woman. Howard took the girl and reared her as his own. One day he found that Noe had taken the girl away, intending to take her to the home of a man, where Howard believed she would be debauched. He followed Noe, and a battle occurred between Noe's friends and Howard. Noe was killed.

Gov. Willson says that Howard was to be commended for going after the girl and trying to save her from harm. It is doubtful, the Governor says, who fired the first shot, and he says Howard was right in following Noe.
